

Communication is often overlooked but is a crucial part of any effective Healthy & Safety system within the workplace. Whether it be an office or a construction site, the act of communicating should be present in any working environment.

Communication is proven to add to productivity and enhance health & safety, which in turn creates happy employees. As it's evident that health & safety and communication go hand in hand, SiteConnect has developed a mass communication feature that quickly gives you the tools you need to communicate with one or all persons within your network.

Mass Communication

Communicate to everyone on-site simultaneously at a push of a button. Specify between one site or all sites across a group or organization. Messages can be viewed either via the Web Portal or the Mobile App.

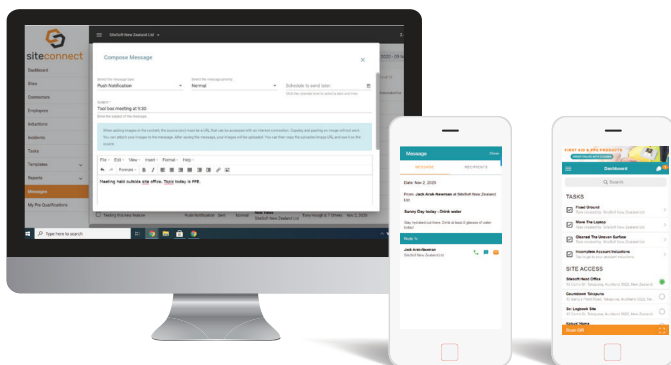

Different Methods to Suit the Situation

Choose between multiple communication methods with your employees or contractors via SMS, email, or push notification.

Trace & Record Compliance

All recorded mass communications are stored securely in the cloud, for easy retrieval, as proof of communications sent. This allows you to demonstrate compliance if or when needed.
